Version 1.0

GotChosen: Senior UI Developer

Introduction:

Are you a strong Senior User Interface Developer looking for a bold, new opportunity? Do you want a place to exercise your UI development to build fast, responsive, single page web applications? Can you take a mockup and build a pixel perfect implementation? Are you eager to work with a motivated, talented software development team?

If you answered 'Yes' to all of the above, … read on …

What we need and how you could fit in:

Directions for Senior UI Developer Test

We want you to take the attached mockup and implement it. On load, it should show the two posts in the mockup. The form at the top should work: I should be able to enter text in the box, hit the button, and have the new post appear below in a similar style to the top text only post in the mockup.

We want you to create all the HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. You can use any libraries or frameworks you want. We'll look highly on a solution that implements a single page application framework such as AngularJS (preferred), Backbone.js, or ember.js., or Node.js

Please add any embellishments such as animation, touch events, or other improvements you think you can make.

Things we're going to check for:

1. That the page matches the mockup
2. That the post form works
3. That the new post appears in the same style as the text post in the mockup
4. Standards compliance
5. Responsiveness from large monitor to phone
6. Cross browser support (IE9+, Safari, Chrome, Firefox, phones/tablets will all be tested)

7. Accessibility
8. Code quality
